This partly wooded finca of 10 hectares is located in a very private and secluded area next to the Velerin river and yet only 10 minutes from the coast at Estepona, Malaga. Access is via a road shared with another finca before arriving at the private gate. There is a delightful 4 -bedroomed almost completely reformed cortijo built in traditional style and another outbuilding which has been used as a stables. The house is situated in the valley overlooking the river with a large flat fertile area, ideal for orchards and, or grazing. This old property was recently renovated with electricity and water ready to be connected. This finca has its own water both from the river and from the well shared with neighbouring finca and with the legal right of access assigned.
